Think Genealogy It's Saturday

January 28
Ancestry.com

The Library Edition of Ancestry.com is FREE to use in the Local History & Genealogy Division, along with 12 town libraries and is a must-have database for every researcher! This month we will demonstrate effective search strategies and the many resources available. We will also take a look at how the Library Edition differs from personal subscriptions.

February 25
FamilySearch.org

Always a top contender in genealogy research circles, this FREE mega site adds millions of new records every month and is also a great source for learning tools. From microfilm to digital images, more than 3 billion images of historic documents are available from all over the world. Learn ways to discover all this website has to offer.

March 25
How Did They Get Here?

Before Ellis Island and after, our ancestors arrived in vessels and steamships to more than ninety US ports. Finding the records of their journey, both immigration and naturalization, is a fascinating piece of the puzzle you will want to explore for yourself.

Volunteers from the Rochester Genealogical Society are available most Saturdays to help with individual research.
